WILMINGTON WILD FOREST FLUME TRAIL SYSTEM

The Flume Trail System is comprised of approximately ten miles of trails open to mountain biking*, hiking, cross country skiing, and snowshoeing in the town of Wilmington, NY. The trails can be accessed via the Flume Trailhead, located approximately 2 miles south of the village center on State Route 86, or the Bear Den Trailhead at Whiteface Mountain Ski Area.

This trail network was built, and is maintained, almost entirely by volunteers. Please be respectful of their work and other users as you enjoy these trails.

“Rules of the Trail”

The following guidelines describe proper etiquette on shared use trails. They were developed by the International Mountain Bicycling Association to help avoid conflicts between different user groups. For a further explanation of these guidelines, or other mountain bike related information, visit www.imba.com.

1. Ride On Open Trails Only
2. Leave No Trace
3. Control Your Bicycle
4. Yield To Others
5. Never Scare Animals
6. Plan Ahead

* All trails except for the Flume Knob and Bear Den Mountain Trails are open to mountain biking. Trails closed to bicycles are posted as such.
